Game has issues, can't use items which makes the game pointless because you will eventually die unless you keep going to inns. I was looking forward to this game and while trying to find a way to use an item in different ways it gave me an error.. I can't really tell you how the game is due to the fact that as soon as you leave the first town the first enemy encounter kills you. It is so unbalanced that there is no way to go thru the game since you die every five steps. I have never encountered this in a game before.
